EXECUTION OF J. J. STRANEY, THE GUERRILLA.—J. J. Straney was executed in the yard of the Military Prison, on Broadway, yesterday at 4 o'clock, having been tried by the military commission convened in this city, on the charge of being a guerrilla, and found guilty. The execution was to have taken place on Wednesday, the 19th inst., but was postponed in consequence, we believe, of the death of the President and the universal grief caused by that event.

There were but few persons allowed inside the prison yard to witness the spectacle. A number of persons, male and female, were to be seen in the windows and upon the tops of houses in the immediate vicinity of the prison, that commanded a view of the gallows. The gallows were erected in the center of the prison yard, and as the time for the execution took place drew nigh, were surrounded by a portion of the 36th Wisconsin Infantry. At about a quarter to 3 o'clock the condemned man was conducted from his prison to the scaffold under guard, and accompanied by the Father Brady, of the Catholic church. He walked unsupported and as firmly as probably he ever did, without showing any sign of weakness of any sort. He was below medium height, but well built, about twenty-one or two years of age, with a full round face and brown hair. His countenance did not indicate more than average intelligence. He had on a frock coat and grey pants, considerably worn, and an old slouch hat of a light color. He exhibited a degree of firmness but seldom displayed by one under similar circumstances.

Arriving at the foot of the scaffold, the guard halted, and the prisoner's arms were securely tied behind his back with a rope. He then ascended the gallows, accompanied by Rev. Mr. Brady, Captain Swope, Provost Marshal, who was charged with the duty of carrying out the order for the execution, and Captain Carter, Assistant Provost Marshal. The prisoner maintained his firmness, and mounted the steps with steady footsteps. One not watching the prisoner closely would have thought he was utterly indifferent about his fate, but the occasional upheaving of his bosom showed that all was not calm within. He sat down while Captain Swope read to him the proceedings of the Military Commission before which he was tried; and then with Father Brady in prayer. Rising upon his feet again, he stepped upon the trap, without any perceptible sign of a want of firmness. His legs were securely tied with a rope, and he was then asked if he had anything to say, to which he replied, "nothing." The rope was adjusted around his neck, and the white cap drawn down over his head; and at a given signal the trap-door fell. Straney died without much struggle, the fall evidently breaking his neck.

Father Brady, his spiritual adviser, has visited him frequently in his prison since his sentence has been made known to him, and he has shown the same firmness in his bearing that he displayed on the scaffold. He admitted that he belonged to a guerrilla band, but denied being guilty of any crime for which he should be made to suffer death. His mother lives at Mount Washington, Bullitt county, to whom he requested his remains should be sent.

The following are the charge and specification, and finding and sentence of the military commission:

GENERAL COURT-MARTIAL ORDERS No. 14. HEADQUARTERS DEPARTMENT OF KENTUCKY, LOUISVILLE, KY., April 13, 1865.—I, Provost Marshal, do hereby certify that J. J. Straney, a citizen of the State of Kentucky, was tried by a military commission convened at Louisville, Kentucky, pursuant to Special Orders No. 6, dated March 2, 1865; Special Orders No. 16, paragraph 2, dated March 14, 1865; Special Orders No. 18, paragraph 3 and 4, dated March 16, 1865, from Headquarters Department of Kentucky, Louisville, Kentucky, and of which Brigadier General Walter C. Whitely is President, was arraigned and tried by J. J. Straney, citizen. Charge—"Being a guerrilla." Specification—"In this, that J. J. Straney, being a citizen of the State of Kentucky and of the United States, and owing allegiance thereto, did, within the lines occupied by the lawfully authorized military forces of the United States, unlawfully, and of his own wrong, take up arms as a guerrilla, and did join, belong to, act and co-operate with guerrillas." Finding—"Not guilty." Sentence—"Not guilty." The commission, after mature deliberation upon the evidence adduced, finds the accused, J. J. Straney, of the specification to the charge, "guilty." Of the charge "guilty." Sentence—"And the commission does, therefore, sentence him, that J. J. Straney, 'To be hanged by the neck until he is dead, at such time and place as the Major General commanding may direct, two-thirds of the members concurring in the sentence.'"

HOPE INSURANCE COMPANY.—The attention of the public is directed to the advertisement in another column of the Hope Insurance Company of this city. The officers of this company are well known here and elsewhere, and their list of references includes the leading bankers and best men of the State. The company is insured to insure on as favorable terms as any other company can. The office of the company is on Fourth street, just south of the National Hotel, second story, where large rooms have been elegantly fitted up for its use. The gentlemen composing the Hope Insurance Company are so well known here and elsewhere, that it is almost unnecessary to do more than simply call public attention to the advertisement in another column.

OUR EVENING EXTRA, published between 4 o'clock and 5 o'clock, not only contains the latest news up to the time of going to press, but original and selected matter of the greatest interest, prepared expressly for it.

Money and Marketing.

Eds. Press: In the "Journal," of yesterday, I noticed an article headed, "money and marketing." It was very good as far as it went, but did not go far enough. As stated in the article referred to, and as everyone knows, everything in the way of marketing bears and brings a fabulous price. But men working upon a salary, and even laboring men are not receiving a compensation in proportion to the high prices required for the actual necessities of life. The great wonder is how men working for $1.50 per day, as the greater part of our laboring men are, live at all. Now for the remedy: let a meeting of the citizens be called (and that immediately) to take some action in regard to the matter. There need be no fears but that the meeting will be well attended, as the subject is one that interests every one. Will some one or more persons interested take the responsibility of calling a meeting forthwith?

FEMALE THIEVES.—Two young girls paid the house of C. Pfeiffer, on Market street, between First and Second, a visit yesterday on some pretext or other, and when leaving wanted to carry away with them a fine dress belonging to Mrs. Pfeiffer, and a pair of fine pantaloons and a vest belonging to Mr. Pfeiffer. Soon after they were missed, and Mr. Pfeiffer started out after the two girls, who were supposed to have stolen it. He overtook them somewhere on Jefferson street, and found them in possession of the dress. He made them return the dress, and piously exhorted them to go their way and sin no more. When he returned home, the pants and vest were found missing, and by that time of course the female thieves could not be found.

LOUISVILLE THEATRE.—The "Hidden Hand," with Miss Emily Thorne as Capitola Black, has proved an attractive bill at the Louisville theatre. The meeting will be well attended, as the subject is one that interests every one. Will some one or more persons interested take the responsibility of calling a meeting forthwith?

POLICE COURT.—Thursday, April 27.—A. J. Benton was presented as a suspected felon, discharged. Wm. Greene, colored, was presented on a charge of stealing clothing from another colored man; bail in $500 to answer in Circuit Court. A colored man named Pleasant was presented charged with stealing a hog from Michael Moore. Being a slave, he was ordered to receive twenty lashes. A. H. Benton was re-arrested at the instance of one of his creditors, who had a judgment against him for $100, and was ordered to pay it. Benton was discharged. Pat Hart was discharged from the work house.

INCIDENTS IN THE LIFE OF A BLIND GIRL.—This is the title of a neat little volume, for sale by Mr. J. J. Straney, graduate of the Maryland Institution for the Blind, and the subject of the narrative. Of the numerous dispensations it is our lot to witness, that of blindness is the most severe—the helplessness and dependence it induces should appeal to every heart. It is, in fact, a vision closed on light of sun and moon, the more may celestial light shine inward; yet, to tread earth's garden-path, forever veiled to the beauty of sky or flower, is a heavy cross to bear. We commend Miss Day and her interesting volume to our citizens.

GYMNASIUM.—We understand that the old members are making an earnest effort to reorganize this institution. The building, grounds and a complete set of apparatus are paid for, and new members will be received. The institution is a valuable membership, be entitled to an equal share in all the benefits derived. We earnestly hope the effort will be successful, for the efforts of a re-organization will be a great help to the old members, and all persons of sedentary habits to acquire a robust physical development and save more than their fee of admission in doctor's bills.

PERSONS DESIRING TO BECOME MEMBERS can consult the president, J. C. Van Pelt, at the Custom House.

NEW MUSIC.—Chant du Bivouac, (camp song), par E. Kottner, op. 139; a very brilliant composition; "Robin Adair," Scotch song, from the opera "La Dame Blanche." Many will recollect how exquisitely it was sung here by Theo. Habermann; "Frebeli," Polka Mazurka by Henri Montan; "Fantasie, in D minor," by Mozart. The above have been issued by Louis Meyer, Chestnut street, Philadelphia, in superb style. They are sold at 10 cents per copy. A copy for a copy of "Abraham Lincoln's Funeral March," composed by William Wolfstetter; the typographical execution of which is very beautiful and appropriate.

NEW MUSIC.—Louis Tripp, the enterprising music publisher on Fourth street, has just issued a new song, "The Canary Bird," dedicated to Miss Belle McCullough, and "Annie Lee," inscribed to Lieut. Col. W. H. Coy, both composed by W. S. Hayes. These have been handsomely gotten up in Tripp's usual style. See Mr. Tripp's card in our advertising columns.

MAYOR'S MESSAGE.—The Mayor last night sent in his first message to the Council. It refers to the assassination of the President, and discloses the interior of the city at length. It also refers to secret political organizations, and says that the curse of rebellion, murder and assassination were the national plagues of the present. It will be published in full to-morrow.

THE PRESIDENT'S FUNERAL.—Both Boards of the city have decided to send a delegation to Indianapolis to participate in the funeral of the late President. A joint committee of five from both Boards will accompany the remains to Springfield, Illinois.

ARRANGEMENTS HAVE BEEN MADE with the Louisville Board of Health, to convey the members of the City Council of Covington to Columbus, Ohio, on Friday evening, for the purpose of participating in the funeral of the late President. The train, which will take place there on Saturday.

GUERRILLAS.—The following named individuals were brought to the Provost Marshal's office yesterday, charged with being guerrillas: Harrison Tucker, Spencer Co., Ky.; John Taylor, Giles Co., Tenn.; Richard Taylor, Giles Co., Ky.; John Calahan, Franklin Co., Ky. They were all placed in military prison.

WALKER-TAYLOR'S MEN.—There were only twenty-nine of Walker Taylor's men who arrived here night before last for the purpose of taking the oath, instead of forty-two as stated in our paper yesterday.

PRISONERS OF WAR.—Eighty-five prisoners of war were received at Military Prison Wednesday night from Nashville. One hundred and nine prisoners of war will be forwarded to Camp Chase to-day.

REBEL DESERTERS.—One hundred and eleven rebel deserters were received at the Military Prison night before last from Nashville. They were taken from the Nashville oaths of allegiance.

MILITARY COMMISSION.—The case of Frank Mattingly, charged with being a guerrilla, was concluded before the Military Commission yesterday. Several witnesses were examined in Mattingly's case.

Booth Killed and his Accomplice Captured.

NEW YORK, April 27.—The following is a corrected copy of the official dispatch sent forward this morning.

WAR DEPARTMENT, WASHINGTON, April 27.—Major General Dix: J. Wilkes Booth and Harrold were chased from the swamps in Md. Mary's coat, Maryland, to Garrett's Farm, near Port Royal, on the Rappahannock, by Col. Baker's forces. The barn in which they both took refuge was destroyed by fire. Harrold was not seen through the head, lingering about three hours, and Harrold was captured. Booth's body and Harrold are now here.

WASHINGTON, April 27.—Yesterday morning a squadron of the 16th New York cavalry traced Booth and Harrold to a barn on the outskirts of Port Royal, Va. The barn was surrounded and a demand made for their surrender, which Harrold was in favor of doing, but Booth, calling him a coward, refused to do so.

The barn was then set on fire and on getting too hot Harrold again presented himself, and with his hands toward the door to be handcuffed. While this was going on Booth fired upon the soldiers, upon which a sergeant fired at him. The ball of the sergeant took effect in the head of Booth killing him.

Harrold was taken alone, and he and Booth's body were brought to Washington by a private dispatch from the military commission. Harrold was taken to the Custom House, and a demand made for his surrender, which Harrold was in favor of doing, but Booth, calling him a coward, refused to do so.

The scouting party under command of Lieutenant Edward Dougherty, Booth was taken to the Custom House, and a demand made for his surrender, which Harrold was in favor of doing, but Booth, calling him a coward, refused to do so.

The detachment of the 16th N. Y. Cavalry under Lieut. Dougherty, numbering 25 men, and accompanied by two of Col. Baker's forces, which were sent to the Rappahannock, obtained the first news of Booth at Port Royal on Tuesday evening, from an old man, who said that four men were hiding in a barn on the Rappahannock, and that they were waiting for the cavalry to come.

The cavalry, after leaving here landed at Port Royal in the night, and started out in pursuit of Booth and Harrold, having previously ascertained from a colored man that they had crossed the river into Virginia at a certain point. In the meantime it appears that Booth applied to Garrett for horses to ride to Louisa county, where they were to be taken to the Rappahannock, and that they were waiting for the cavalry to come.

Proceeding on toward Bowling Green, some five miles from Port Royal, Lieut. Dougherty's force, which was sent to the Rappahannock, obtained the first news of Booth at Port Royal on Tuesday evening, from an old man, who said that four men were hiding in a barn on the Rappahannock, and that they were waiting for the cavalry to come.

dent, when Booth denounced the murder in the severest terms, saying there was no punishment severe enough for the perpetrator. At another time some one said in a loud voice, "Booth is a scoundrel," and he would like to catch him, when Booth replied: "It would be a good haul, but the amount would be small, soon be increased to $500,000." The two Garrets, who lived on the place, say they had no idea that their parties were any other than what their friends reported them—paroled Confederate soldiers on their way home.

They say that when the cavalry approached that vicinity, and they heard that they were looking for the assassin, they sent word to them that these two men were on the place, and that they would be sent to the military prison. Booth and Harrold were dressed in Confederate gray uniforms. Harrold was otherwise not disguised much. Booth's mustache had been cut off, and his hair was cut short. Booth's hair was cut short, and his hair was cut short. Booth's hair was cut short, and his hair was cut short.

the soul of the criminal. The pistol used by Corbett was the regular large sized cavalry pistol. He was offered $1000 this morning for it, with the five undischarged loads. This afternoon, Surgeon Gen. Barnes, with assistants, held an autopsy on the body of Booth.

It now appears that Booth and Harrold had on clothes which were originally of some other color than Confederate gray, but, being faded and dusty, presented that appearance.

The Ingersolls Mobbed in Philadelphia. PHILADELPHIA, April 27.—About nine o'clock this morning Mr. Edward Ingersoll, who delivered a strong secession speech a few days since in New York, was waited on by a committee of citizens on his way from the railroad train at Ninth and Green, and was requested to apologize for the speech. This Mr. Ingersoll refused to do, and drew a revolver from his pocket, but was unable to fire it before he was knocked down and very badly cut and beaten by the mob.

Mr. Ingersoll's friends are endeavoring to take out a high habeas corpus writ, but have not been successful in finding the Aldermen by whom he was committed.

PHILADELPHIA, April 27.—This evening Chas. Ingersoll, a prominent secessionist, and a notorious sympathizer with the rebellion, went to Spring Garden Hall for the purpose of giving ball for his brother. On descending from his carriage he was set on by the populace and very badly beaten. He took refuge in the hall, and was subsequently conveyed to his home.

Several prominent secessionists proposed to visit the hall this evening to consult with Mr. Ingersoll, but they were warned not to do so, and desisted. The excitement on the subject runs high, and in the present state of the public mind, the lives of all sympathizers with the rebellion are hardly said to be safe.

Bulletin furnishes the following particulars of the Ingersoll difficulty, which produced a great sensation in this city:

When the train reached Ninth and Green streets a party of men got round to the front door of the car for the purpose of giving Mr. Ingersoll a parting salute of groans. Mr. Ingersoll, however, passed out the back door and got upon the Wallace street car, which followed him. At Eighth street Mr. Ingersoll turned about and faced the party. A man named J. H. Withington, of the 19th Pennsylvania volunteers, then stepped forward and said: "Ingersoll, I am a soldier, and have risked my life for my country. I want you to give an apology to the soldiers." Ingersoll merely replied, "No to hell!"

The captain then raised his cane to strike Mr. Ingersoll, but the blow was warded off by Mr. I., with his cane. The two then crossed canes for a few seconds, Mr. I. being the victor. Mr. Ingersoll then drew back about ten paces, took from his pocket a revolver, and cocked it. Some of the crowd scattered at this, when he was immediately seized by the police officers.

From Fort Monroe. FORTRESS MONROE, April 27.—Among the various arrivals from Richmond to-day was that of the paroled rebel General Pickett, who murdered in cold blood the 25th North Carolina. He was dropped in a full suit of rebel gray, and accompanied in and out of the fort, inspecting his guns and his various works with as much nonchalance as if he had been an Union officer disarmed of his arms.

The steamer Richmond, Captain Baker, arrived from Moorehead City this evening at 6 o'clock, having left there at 3 P. M. yesterday with important dispatches from Grant.

The General reached Moorehead City on the evening of the 26th, about sundown, and started immediately for the military prison at Raleigh and its immediate vicinity.

WAR DEPARTMENT, WASHINGTON, April 27, 9:30 A. M.—Maj. Gen. Dix: The Department has received the following dispatches from Maj. Gen. Halleck, commanding the Military Division of the James River, Canby and Thomas were instructed some days ago that Sherman's arrangements with Johnston were approved by the President. They were ordered to push on and disregard it, and push the enemy in every direction.

R. M. STANTON, Secretary of War.

REICHMOND, Va., April 26, 9:30 A. M.—Hon. E. M. Stanton, Secretary of War: Gen. Meade, Sheridan and Wright are acting under orders to pay no regard to any truce or order of Gen. Johnston respecting military titles, on the ground that Sherman's agreement could bind his own command only, and no other. They are directed to push forward regarding the military titles, except Gen. Grant, to cut off Johnston's retreat.

Beauregard has telegraphed to Danville that the new arrangement has been made with Sherman, and that the advance of the 9th corps was to be suspended until further orders.

I have telegraphed back to obey no orders of Sherman, but to push forward as rapidly as possible.

The bankers here have information today that Jeff. Davis' specie is moving south from Goldsboro in wagons as fast as possible.

I suggest that orders be telegraphed to Gen. Thomas that Wilson will obey no orders from Sherman, and notifying him and Canby, and all commanders on the Mississippi, to ignore the rebel chiefs and their plunders. The specie taken with them is estimated here at $5,000,000 to $13,000,000.

The bells of the city churches are tolling while the train leaves the city. The tolling shows marked signs of sorrow and respect. Thus far there has been no accident. Ten thousand people are present.

BATON Rouge, N. Y., April 27.—The remains of President Lincoln arrived at 5:15. Two thousand of the inhabitants were assembled at this place, where the remains were met by a choir of male and female voices sang a requiem. The bells were tolled and guns fired.

BUFFALO, April 27.—The funeral party arrived here at 7 A. M., escorted by the 74th regiment and a company of light artillery. The Committee of Arrangements, City Council, and others received the remains at the depot, and they were taken to the city hall.

From North Carolina.

NEW YORK, April 27.—The Herald's Raleigh correspondent of the 19th says: Johnston first proposed to surrender to Sherman on the terms granted to Lee, and requested Sherman to send the proposition to Washington. Sherman replied that he was empowered to act and it was unnecessary to send to Washington, thus causing an interview, which was had the next day, when Johnston made inquiry what terms would be yielded to members of the Confederate government.

Sherman refused to recognize the authorities of any southern government, but was prepared to treat with Johnston as an officer of the insurgent forces. A second meeting was had, at which Breckinridge was recognized as a Major General, and not as the rebel Secretary of War.

It was at this conference that Sherman permitted the introduction of the objectionable propositions, which it is said were dictated by Jeff. Davis.

General Sherman had heard of the President's assassination, and he immediately communicated the intelligence to the rebels, who appeared to have the profoundest regret for the event.

Gen. Sherman, who was reported at Greensboro, was permitted to come through Johnston's lines to Raleigh. Johnston's army, probably 35,000 strong, is better supplied with food and horses than the army of the Confederacy ever had. Many of the rank and file, however, not willing to wait for the formal surrender, are leaving for their homes.

The World's Raleigh correspondent says a commission, consisting of Ex-Gov. Graham, Ex-Gov. Swaine, Surgeon General Warren, and Col. Linn, was sent by Sherman to see what arrangements could be made with Sherman on the part of the State for a cessation of hostilities, and to ascertain what the rebels would be willing to do.

The commission had the assent of Gen. Hardee to visit Sherman, Johnston not being at hand, but Wade Hampton intercepted them and turned them back. Kilpatrick, being in the rear, captured them, and, after a short fight, they were sent back to their mission.

They had an interview with Sherman, who gave them a written paper for the Governor of the State and ordered them as no hostilities were shown by them, Sherman told them he had no objection to their going to the State Government to see what was to be done.

Johnston's army was inferior to his, and every man slain in the future was an unnecessary sacrifice. Johnston and his army were responsible for this sacrifice, and the suffering entailed on the people of North Carolina.

The civilized world would pronounce Johnston's course inhuman and illegitimate.

The President's Body Guard.

NEW YORK, April 27.—The Times' Washington special says that the statement that President Johnston declined all precaution for his personal safety is erroneous.

It is true he has not given special directions for guards to be placed about his person, but he approves the precaution taken by the authorities which embrace the continuance upon duty of the President's body-guard, commanded by Lieut. J. B. Jamison, of Ohio.

The company consists of one select man from each county in Ohio, and numbers nearly 100 men. A sufficient number of men is upon duty at all times. Whoever attempts to place upon the President is confronted by the body-guard, and not permitted to advance further than the order given by the President to admit him.

In the hall adjoining the reception room are also found soldiers of gentle deportment, who quietly remain about the entrance to the hall, and are constantly on the alert to prevent any violence being attempted upon the President.

CINCINNATI, April 27, M.—The river has fallen one foot one inch, with eighteen feet five inches in the channel. Weather clear. Thermometer 70.

FROM STONEMAN'S COMMAND.

KNOXVILLE, April 27.—Since the last intelligence from Gen. Stoneman's command the following is a summary of what has happened since the last report.

On the morning of the 26th, the command under Colonel Palmer moved down the Canebrake river, dispersing some parties of the rebel forces. The portion of the command captured upwards of two thousand prisoners and two pieces of artillery, and among other things destroyed was the immense railroad bridge between the Canebrake and eleven hundred and twenty-five feet long, and sixty feet high.

Learning that a general armistice had been entered into between Sherman and Johnston, Col. Palmer ceased operations.

The other portion of the command, under General Gillem, attacked and routed the rebels under Major General McCowan at Morgantown, taking one piece of artillery, afterwards forcing the passes through the Blue Ridge, held by the rebel forces, and under General Martin, taking six pieces of artillery, and would have captured or dispersed the whole force had Gen. Gillem not been met by Gen. Martin with a flag of truce and a message from Gen. Sherman, countermanding by Gen. Johnston and directed to Gen. Stoneman, ordering a general suspension of hostilities and withdrawal of the forces under Gen. Sherman's command.

Col. Dallard has received communication to the effect that by Saturday, nearly all the rebels in this section will have surrendered to him.

Ovation to the Negroes in Fifth Avenue New York.

NEW YORK, April 26.—The World says: One of the striking features of the procession yesterday was the applause showered upon the representatives of the colored race upon the line of march in the Fifth Avenue of the city.

The scene in Fifth Avenue was one continued ovation to the negroes, who were compelled to keep their heads uncovered for the full length of the parade.

Of the male spectators and the waving of handkerchiefs by the ladies.

A queer sight it was. Less than two years since was as much as a negro's life was worth to be seen walking in the streets.

BUFFALO, April 27.—The funeral party arrived here at 7 A. M., escorted by the 74th regiment and a company of light artillery. The Committee of Arrangements, City Council, and others received the remains at the depot, and they were taken to the city hall.

From North Carolina.

NEW YORK, April 27.—The Herald's Raleigh correspondent of the 19th says: Johnston first proposed to surrender to Sherman on the terms granted to Lee, and requested Sherman to send the proposition to Washington. Sherman replied that he was empowered to act and it was unnecessary to send to Washington, thus causing an interview, which was had the next day, when Johnston made inquiry what terms would be yielded to members of the Confederate government.

Sherman refused to recognize the authorities of any southern government, but was prepared to treat with Johnston as an officer of the insurgent forces. A second meeting was had, at which Breckinridge was recognized as a Major General, and not as the rebel Secretary of War.

It was at this conference that Sherman permitted the introduction of the objectionable propositions, which it is said were dictated by Jeff. Davis.

General Sherman had heard of the President's assassination, and he immediately communicated the intelligence to the rebels, who appeared to have the profoundest regret for the event.

Gen. Sherman, who was reported at Greensboro, was permitted to come through Johnston's lines to Raleigh. Johnston's army, probably 35,000 strong, is better supplied with food and horses than the army of the Confederacy ever had. Many of the rank and file, however, not willing to wait for the formal surrender, are leaving for their homes.

The World's Raleigh correspondent says a commission, consisting of Ex-Gov. Graham, Ex-Gov. Swaine, Surgeon General Warren, and Col. Linn, was sent by Sherman to see what arrangements could be made with Sherman on the part of the State for a cessation of hostilities, and to ascertain what the rebels would be willing to do.

The commission had the assent of Gen. Hardee to visit Sherman, Johnston not being at hand, but Wade Hampton intercepted them and turned them back. Kilpatrick, being in the rear, captured them, and, after a short fight, they were sent back to their mission.

They had an interview with Sherman, who gave them a written paper for the Governor of the State and ordered them as no hostilities were shown by them, Sherman told them he had no objection to their going to the State Government to see what was to be done.

Johnston's army was inferior to his, and every man slain in the future was an unnecessary sacrifice. Johnston and his army were responsible for this sacrifice, and the suffering entailed on the people of North Carolina.

The civilized world would pronounce Johnston's course inhuman and illegitimate.

The President's Body Guard.

NEW YORK, April 27.—The Times' Washington special says that the statement that President Johnston declined all precaution for his personal safety is erroneous.

It is true he has not given special directions for guards to be placed about his person, but he approves the precaution taken by the authorities which embrace the continuance upon duty of the President's body-guard, commanded by Lieut. J. B. Jamison, of Ohio.

The company consists of one select man from each county in Ohio, and numbers nearly 100 men. A sufficient number of men is upon duty at all times. Whoever attempts to place upon the President is confronted by the body-guard, and not permitted to advance further than the order given by the President to admit him.

In the hall adjoining the reception room are also found soldiers of gentle deportment, who quietly remain about the entrance to the hall, and are constantly on the alert to prevent any violence being attempted upon the President.
